in writing, supplying the following particulars:

1. Formal concurrence for implementation of the regulations;
2. the extent of application as stated hereunder; and
3. applicable qualifications of the noise control officer or inspector.

A local authority who is in a position to apply the regulations in its entirety, should have the services of at least a noise control officer at its disposal, whose minimum qualifications are of a standard equal to a senior certificate plus four years tertiary education in engineering or physical sciences, as evaluated by the Human Sciences Research Council and who has thus been appointed by a local authority in its service.

A local authority who has an inspector in its employ, on whom a National Certificate in Noise Control has been conferred by a technicon, defined in section 1 of the Technicons Act, 1967 (Act No. 40 of 1967), under section 16 (1) of the said Act, may apply the regulations with the exception of regulations 3 (a), (b), (c), (d) and (e).
